

The numbers

These are not dramatic failures. They are small gaps — a missed update, a forgotten preference, a request that never reached the right person. But they happen across every department, every shift, every day. And they compound.

44%

of managers believe staff are aligned. Only 14% of staff agree

47 min

spent per shift by supervisors just finding out what has or hasn't been done

68%

of hotels regularly experience duplicate task dispatch — two people, same job, no visibility

34%

fewer service gaps when hotels implement standardized shift briefings
