

02 Guest profile

The operational brain

A living record of every guest. Their preferences, dietary needs, complaint history, past stays, promises made. The agent draws on this to contextualise every task and surface the right information at the right moment.

