

04 Agent instructions

Instruct the agent with your expertise

The manager writes plain-language rules that shape how the agent behaves — who handles what, what always escalates, what never gets missed. The agent learns from patterns over time and suggests new rules based on what it observes.

